Email & Storage as a Service for Schools

Hosted, secure and managed email on-demand with online storage

The growth in demand for email in schools and the benefits it brings has meant that providing easy access to secure, reliable email is crucial.

It has become a key communication and collaboration tool for both learners and teachers with access from any location now essential. This has therefore placed greater demand on your existing solution and your ICT Technician or support resources in terms of storage, reliability, security and overall management.

Impact of failure to act

- Spiralling storage costs
- Mailbox and attachment limits restrictive
- Increased demand on time and resources to manage taking the focus away from teaching and learning
- Increased investment required for upgrades and management
- Security threats increase as demand and usage increases

The Northgate Email & Storage as a Service

Northgate's email & Storage as a service delivers on-demand and secure access to email and storage from any device and location with an internet connection. It is delivered and hosted externally to the school providing a scalable service to ensure you only pay for what you use.

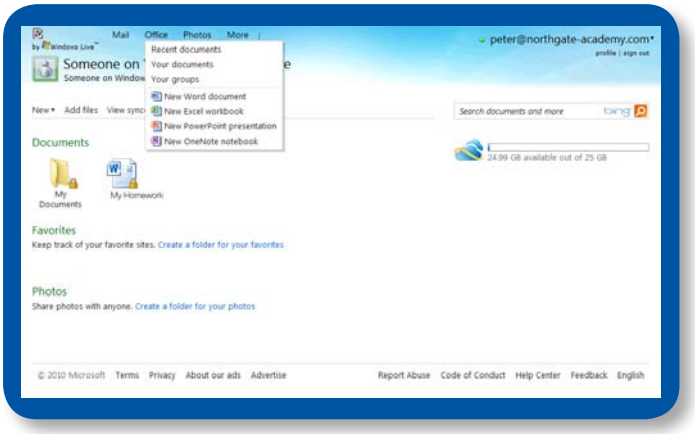
MANAGED CLOUD SERVICES

- reduce costs
- improve agility
- maintain security
- elastic scalability

Switching from an in-house solution is easy as Northgate can look after the migration and provisioning of emails, ongoing maintenance and security. There is no need for hardware to support the solution as it is delivered via the cloud or time spent managing onsite backups. All this reduces the demand placed on your IT Technician and internal technical resources, allowing them to focus on core educational initiatives.

One of the key features of this service is initial access to 25GB of online storage wherever and whenever you connect to the internet. This allows students and teachers to store personal documents, educational resources and upload files for group projects and collaboration. As the storage is hosted externally via the cloud, it reduces the school's storage requirements and therefore the associated costs.



You can also share schedules and calendars, create distribution lists for study groups, email reports and instant message students and teachers from any web browser, from any location.
